GLASGOW ODONTOLOGICAL SOCIETY MEETING

"A lifetime in Primary Dental Care"

Professor Trevor Burke

The aims and objectives of the lecture are:

To look at the failings of dentistry in the past because of the use of non-adhesive materials and to speculate what future developments will be.

The specified learning outcomes for this course were:

- To describe the historical dental materials available
- To describe the clinical improvements that resulted from the development of adhesive dental materials
- To describe the next generation of dental materials and speculate on the clinical possibilities they will open up
